

HARVARD-RADCLIFFE CLASS OF 1966

Dear Classmates,

September 2022

Our September newsletter (over 3 years running!):

Jon Baron:

Lest I be forever a lurker on this mailing list, here is my news. Judy (wife of 55 years) and I are trying hard to avoid COVID-19, especially "long covid", which makes living in center-city Philadelphia much duller than it was.

However, our son David (Harvard 2002) finally got married (to Jing Liu) and they had a child Isaac, whose other grandparents are stuck in China. Isaac is now 2. He seems to understand Chinese (from Jing), but talks incessantly in almost-comprehensible English. They all live in Maryland, so we visit them every few weeks. I like being "grandpa".

I am still working much harder than I would like, but next year should be better. The journal I have been editing and producing since 2006, Judgment and Decision Making, will be taken over by Cambridge University Press, so I will no longer do the production, which is time consuming (but sometimes fun), and I have two co-editors now. I am almost finished with the 5th edition of my textbook, Thinking and Deciding, due at Cambridge University Press by the end of 2022.

I still play classical guitar. I once planned to compose music (as I did in my teens and early 20s) when I retired, like Harriet Katz, but that is not happening, in part because I have been unable to fully retire from everything else. I did retire from teaching (at Penn) and getting paid in 2013.

Jim Hurley:

This spring I retired from regular faculty at Reformed Theological Seminary, where I have been Professor of Counseling for the last 37 years. I continue as a professional counselor. Phyllis and I continue to raise funds for scholarships for 16 Ugandan orphans. We are looking forward to more time with children and grandchildren!

Roger Howe:

This is related to math education, which I suppose is a topic of little interest to nearly everyone in the class, but this summer, I was awarded the Dolciani Award for mathematics education by the Mathematical Association of America. This follows the publication (in 2021) of an article I wrote in the Princeton University Press series titled Best Mathematics Writing of (year X). One of the main points in that article was that Massachusetts does a better job at math education than any other state. Wilfried Schmid of the Harvard Math Department was involved in getting that started, although he has not been active in math ed for a number of years.

T.D.Allman:

Live and Reflect // Vivre et Réfléchir:

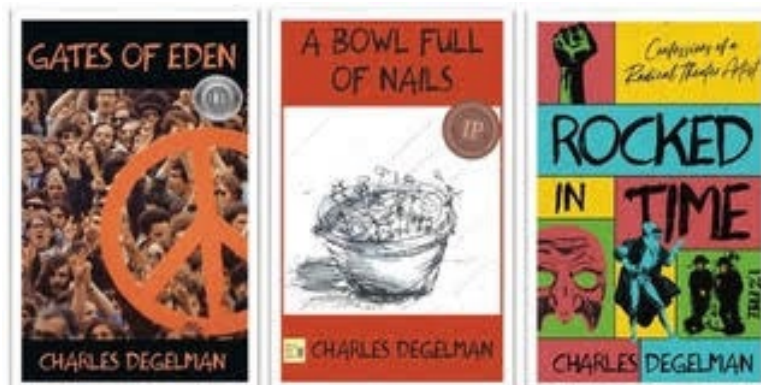

Best Chinese restaurant in dark glasses:

Charles Degelman:

Harvard Square Editions <<https://harvardsquareeditions.org/portfolio-items/rocked-in-time/>> will launch Rocked in Time, Volume III of my Resistance Trilogy, on October 18. Available from all the usual suspects.

Rocked in Time slips behind the scenes of a blasphemous theater company hell-bent on toppling America's Vietnam-era establishment with punch lines, pratfalls, and comic rebellion.

All three volumes of the Trilogy are set in the resistance movements of the 1960s and '70s. Each novel explores a different world of rebellion, and each novel celebrates those who choose to swim against the stream, then AND now.

Editors note: a direct Amazon link to Rocked in Time is in the Our Class > Classmate Books section of the class website:

Charles Jackson:

Well, we have nothing interesting to report—our life is routine. Below is a sunrise picture I took near our house last winter. Cellphone cameras have become excellent cameras.

William Neaves:

Photographing wildlife at our mesa-top home in Northwest Texas continues to distract me from less pleasant matters.

Here’s a Roadrunner (Geococcyx californianus) on September 5, 2022.

In Memoriam:

AB'65	Ms. C. Quentin Davis	8-09-22	Jamaica Plain, MA
AB'65	Bernard J. O'Neil III	6-23-22	Brentwood, TN
AB'65	Prof. Joel Selig	5-30-22
AB'65	Francis Cheever	7-23-22	Boston, MA
AB'66	David Watson	7-02-22	Georgetown, MA

That's the news this month.

Regards from:

Tom Black
co-class secretary