

HARVARD-RADCLIFFE CLASS OF 1966

Dear Classmates,

January 2020

A shorter letter this month, but from John Roemer:

I've published a book this year: How we cooperate : A theory of Kantian optimization, Yale Univ. Press, 2019. Short blurb: Economic theory has focused upon explaining how people compete with each other in their economic activity. I propose a theory for how they cooperate with each other. Both competition and cooperation are necessary protocols, although economic theory has, for all intents and purposes, ignored cooperation. I am attempting to rectify this.
